

SENATOR QUAY'S LATEST PLANS

Will Hope to Pass the Statehood Bill as a Rider.

Backed TO APPROPRIATIONS

Interest Awakened in Senate Over Measure to Investigate Social Conditions—Capitol Notes.

Special Correspondence.
Washington, D. C., Feb. 5.—There has been a great deal of discussion around the proposition to make the bill for the admission of the states a part of some of the appropriation bills. Some consider it a shrewd move on the part of Senator Quay, and others express the opinion that he has simply shown that he is a defeated and not a conqueror. It is a vote in a regular manner. The bill was demonstrated that it stands, so far as the bill as it stands, is successful, but no one who understands the situation in the senate expects that the statehood bill could pass as a separate measure. That it might pass as a rider on one of the appropriation bills is possible, but the determination shown by the minority indicates that they would be willing to let the supply bills and force an amendment before they would allow the statehood bill to be admitted. The bill has been very generally disapproved as to whether a rider of this kind would be in order, but it has been determined long ago that all such in a favorable position if he succeeds in his latest move.

TO STUDY ABNORMAL CLASSES.

An interesting bill has been reported from the senate committee on judiciary providing for a laboratory for the study of the abnormal classes, the work to include not only laboratory investigations, but also the collection of sociological and pathological data, especially such as may be found in institutions for the criminal, pauper and defective classes and generally in hospitals and schools.

RETURN OF TELLER.

There is considerable satisfaction expressed about the senate regarding the re-election of Senator Teller from Colorado. While he has been absolutely frank in his statements and expressed his opinions without reserve, no matter who they might have hurt, at the same time he has made many friends who would be very sorry to have him leave the senate. Since the result in Colorado has been known hundreds of letters have been received in Washington extending congratulations, and not a few of them have been from Republicans of prominence, who might have been expected to see a Republican from Colorado if there had been no question as to the political complexion of the legislature.

CONGRESSIONAL NOTES.

The great gaudy bowled spectacles of Senator Deboe are one of the prominent features of interest to those who visit the senate. They flash in the rather uncertain light of the senate chamber, attract the attention of visitors and most always call forth an inquiry who they are wearing them. A group of members surrounded two men on the floor of the house the other day, and only the old timers seemed to know who they were. John Turney, who formerly represented the Kansas City (Mo.) district, and William M. Springer, formerly a prominent representative from Illinois, were in the midst of the group, and it did not take long to learn that Turney was retailing some of the good stories for which he was famous when a member of the house in the stormy days of the Fifty-first Congress.

"When did the senator they are talking about die?" asked a small boy recently when they were held eulogies in the senate.

"Some time last summer," was the reply.

"Why," persisted the small boy, "are they telling about it now?" It is one of the curious things of congressional eulogies that they are postponed long

BARNEY DUNNE'S CASE.

Will be Tried for Involuntary Manslaughter at Tooele Next Week.

District Attorney Elchorn will attend court in Tooele county next week and try several criminal actions. Among the cases is one of the state against Barney Dunne, charged with involuntary manslaughter for the killing of William Dryburn at Vernon on Nov. 25.

According to the story told of the shooting, Dryburn put a hat upon his head and gave Dunne permission to shoot it off. Dunne took him at his word and pulled a rifle and fired at the head of the man. The bullet was too low and the bullet struck Dryburn in the head, inflicting a wound which resulted fatally.

INSANE PATIENTS' EFFECTS.

Sheriff Emery Doesn't Know What to Do With Them.

Just what disposition to make of the personal effects of insane patients which have been left in his possession, is the question which seriously agitates the mind of Sheriff Emery, and it is very probable that he will call upon Judge Hall for an opinion as to whether or not he shall be compelled to act as custodian of such property after the patient has been committed to the insane asylum.

Some months ago Miss McMinn, a dressmaker, was committed to the asylum. At the time of her commitment she had personal effects consisting of a sewing machine, folding bed, bicycle, partially completed dresses and several pieces of dress goods, all of which were taken in charge by the sheriff in expectation that some relative would call and take them off his hands. Some of the dresses were called for, but the greater part of the property still remains in the custody of the sheriff and has been stored in the B. & O. warehouse. The storage already amounts to $12 and the entire value of the property will soon be eaten up in storage. It is therefore the intention of Sheriff Emery to ascertain whether or not the goods can be sold and the proceeds held in trust for Miss McMinn, and thereby save all expenses connected with the care of the goods.

NOT WILSON AT ALL.

Detective Sheets Identifies the Dead Holdup as a Mr. Howard.

The day following the battle with the holdups in which Officer Heath killed one of their number, Detective George A. Sheets called at Evans' morgue and saw the body of the dead bandit. He made a careful examination, "doubtless looking" for "marks and brands," but found none, and concluded the examination with the statement that he had never seen the man before. But it now appears that Sheets has changed his mind, and that he identifies the man as a fellow named Howard, whom he arrested here for robbery in 1895-6. Sheets says Howard served a term in the county jail. In the course of a few days, the dead man will doubtless be identified as several other persons.

DOCTORS WILL FIGHT BILLS.

Declaration of War on the Measures Relating to Osteopaths.

At the meeting of the County Medical society last night Senator Hamberger's bill, relating to the practice of osteopathy, was the bone of contention. The fight, however, was all on one side. The medicals declared that the bill was nothing but a covert scheme to license osteopathy and they therefore said it must die.

The society also registered its opposition to the pharmaceutical bill, which prohibits physicians from dispensing their own medicines; also the bill that is to be introduced, preventing any company or corporation from contracting with any physician or hospital to take care of sick employees without the consent of the individual employee concerned. A committee was appointed to take the bill in hand and report upon it at a special meeting to be held by the society in a few days.

The doctors also declared that it was wrong for accounts of operations to get into the newspapers. Dr. La Motte gave notice that he would introduce into the society a regulation providing that all such accounts be clipped and the doctors whose names appear in these accounts, be brought before the society and required to explain how it happened.

LEGISLATIVE NOTES.

Ex-Senator Fred J. Kiesel of Ogden appeared yesterday before the committee on manufacturers and commerce to protest against Cahoon's proposed change in the liquor law. He objected to the clause requiring a year's license in advance as a discrimination against poor men and also against the requirement of the license to live in the county in the last four years of the term. He declared that statistics showed that Methodism was actually declining in some of the conferences at any rate. He believed in looking at the facts, and he declared it was a grievous mistake to take an over-optimistic view.

His statements were vehemently opposed by the other members. Dr. Buckley made several short answers to the attacks made upon him.

Young Rockefeller Much in Debt.

New York, Feb. 10.—John D. Rockefeller, Jr., is supposed to be about the richest young man in America, and owes $400,000, and has only $200,000 worth of personal property, according to the statement filed with the department of taxes and assessments. Mr. Rockefeller was assessed at $500,000.

From what could be learned at the tax office Mr. Rockefeller called the statement a "hoax," having gone on and stated that he had $400,000 in debts and that his personal property above his debts was worth only $30,000, but he was willing to pay taxes on an assessment of $500,000. The commissioners accepted Mr. Rockefeller's figures.

CITY COUNCIL STAYED WITH IT

Talked for Three Hours and Then Made a Discovery.

REVOKED LIQUOR LICENSE.

Enquist and Fallquist, Saloonkeepers, Found Guilty of Distributing Obscene Literature.

AN UNUSUALLY LENGTHY AND ANIMATED

session of the city council was held last night. For more than three hours the members wrangled and argued, and when it was absolutely necessary that an adjournment be taken in order that they might make connections with the last car, it was discovered that only two matters of importance had been considered during the session and that none of the routine business of the council had been touched. So it became necessary to take a recess until Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock, which was done.

It took that long to make a little over two hours to discover the fact that Enquist and Fallquist, the Commercial street saloonkeepers, who were cited to show cause, had been distributing obscene literature in the nature of advertising matter for their resort, and that their license should be revoked. Some of the councilmen favored the suspension of the license of the offenders for 15 days; others wanted to make it 30 days; and it was also suggested that the men be allowed to go with only a reprimand from the council. It was finally decided by a unanimous vote that the license should be revoked, and it was so ordered.

SALARY ORDINANCE.

The other bone of contention was the ordinance increasing the salaries of the heads of several of the departments and certain employees of the city, which has been argued and re-argued both in the council and committee meetings on a number of occasions. The ordinance as heretofore printed in these columns was passed with two amendments, namely, the salary of the city engineer is increased to $3,400 per annum instead of $2,500, as recommended by the committee, and the salary of the chief janitor was increased from $60 per month to $70, and the assistant janitor from $45 to $60 per month.

Along the same line, Barclay introduced a resolution providing for a general increase in the salaries of all members of the police department, which was referred to the finance and police and prison committees with the city attorney associated.

The council voted to concur in the recommendation of the city engineer that the city join the canal companies in the purchase of the Cooper water right below Jordan Narrows and that the canal companies be allowed to purchase from the city an interest in the Mattress factory water right.

A TILDEN CLUB BANQUET.

Anniversary of Birth of the Great Democrat Duly Celebrated.

Mr. C. S. Hamlin of Boston Dined on The Issue in the Coming Presidential Campaign.

NEW YORK, FEB. 9.—A banquet in celebration of the anniversary of the birth of Samuel J. Tilden was held at the Tilden club last night.

About 100 persons were present. Among those at the guest table were Jos. W. Folk, district attorney of St. Louis; Chas. S. Hamlin, of Boston, assistant secretary of the treasury under President Cleveland, and Atty. Gen. Cuneen of New York. The three speakers were Messrs. Hamlin, Folk and Shepard.

"The great question over which the coming fight for the presidency will be waged are: First—The foreign policy of the administration; second—The treatment of trusts and monopolies; third, tariff reform; fourth, economy in government administration.

"The great question whether the Philippines are ultimately to be admitted as territories or be given independence is now before us for settlement. I believe that a majority of Democrats are of the opinion that they should be given complete independence at an early date.

"The present administration has extended the Monroe doctrine so far that it has practically made our hemisphere a closed shop for the benefit of all South American republics who are cheerfully encouraged by this means to evade the payment of any specific obligation which their citizens have incurred by putting forward so many other obligations incurred by the citizens of other nations that the result would be that the individual nations concerned could recover no dividend whatever.

"The proper regulation of industrial combinations known as trusts is also before the people, and many bills have been introduced which, under the guise of regulation would practically amount to such control over state corporations as to wipe out state lines and establish a centralized form of government not unlike that of France.

"I believe the first step should be radically to review our system of tariff taxation to the end that foreign competition may come in to take the place of that domestic competition which is being destroyed. Then by examining the effect of foreign competition we shall soon find that additional legislation is needed to control monopolies. Meanwhile the federal government should enforce existing law and provide new legislation to secure information as to what these combinations are doing."

Mr. Folk discussed the question of official corruption, and declared that if

CARNEGIE'S EARLY LIFE.

He Tells of It to Am. Institute of Electrical Engineers.

New York, Feb. 9.—The American Institute of Electrical Engineering held its annual dinner tonight at Sherrys. The dinner was in honor of Andrew Carnegie and was devoted to the subject of the Institute library created during the past year through the liberality of Dr. S. S. Wheeler, and Andrew Carnegie, Edward D. Adams, C. O. Muller and other members. Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Carnegie and Mr. and Mrs. Thos. A. Edison.

Speaking on the subject of libraries Mr. Carnegie said in part: "I have a right to be among the electrical engineers. We, Mr. Edison, Mr. Franklin and myself are old electric telegraphers. I was the mere messenger boy in the old days when the electrical age was young. I remember when I was in a dirty cellar firing a steam engine which I was told would break down. I was not an engineer. Then I was in an office, and what a change. There was clean paper and pencils and even the windows were clean. I was a telegraph operator. I remember telegraphing New Orleans by way of Louisville when I was an operator at the magnificent salary of $25 a month. When I was in New Orleans as a telegraph operator it seemed like Swedenborg's description of heaven space annihilated.

"Americans are ahead of all others in electricity. But Great Britain is entitled to at least one-half the honor for in material progress we are indebted to her for the steam engine of Watts which came before the steamboat of Fulton. There was the steam locomotive of Stephenson and another inventor and yet they were all Scotch."

PHILIPPINES CURRENCY.

Taft Urges Necessity of Immediate Legislation.

Washington, Feb. 9.—Secy Root today transmitted to the president pro tem of the senate a copy of a cablegram from the governor of the Philippines, dated Manila, Feb. 5, indicating the urgent necessity of legislation regarding the Philippine currency. In his dispatch to the secretary of war Gov. Taft says:

"Official ratio Mexican dollars to United States currency now $2.66 to $1; total direct net loss to insular treasury from the use of silver since Jan. 1, 1902, $1,237,947.

"All business suffering greatly from fluctuation and depreciation insular treasury immense losses to merchants on account of exchange. Failure to furnish relief at this session of Congress would create consternation throughout the islands; added to the financial depression would result in a political situation would become more difficult.

"The adoption of American money would enhance prices greatly and devalue every form of gold equal to half American dollar as unit of value. Insular and subsidiary minor coins receivable for all public duties at the rate of 50 cents American money for one peso, with provision for issuance of silver certificates based on deposit of new pesos would furnish a currency as good as American money and as better adapted to needs of the islands. The Philippine commission are unanimous in their views."

RACES AT INGLESIDE.

Fine Weather Prevailed—Favorites Did Not Fare Well.

San Francisco, Feb. 9.—The fine weather that prevailed at Ingleside today was in marked contrast to that of Saturday. The track had dried out fairly well, but was deep near the rail. Favorites did not fare well, only two getting home in front. The feature of the card was the mile race, for which Gold Van was a pronounced favorite. He was poorly handled by Waldo, who took him back. He closed well in the deepest going, but was beaten two lengths by Leader, with Eclipse second. The judges suspended Birkenrath for rough riding in the third race. He was on Almsgriver and interfered with Rim Rock. Jockey Johnny Reiff left today for New York, en route for Paris. Summary:

A CASE OF IT.

Many More Like It In Salt Lake City.

The following case is but one of many similar occurring daily in Salt Lake City. It is an easy matter to verify its correctness. Surely you cannot ask for better proof than such a conclusive evidence.

E. Madsen, plumber employed at the Salt Lake Hardware Co., residence 954 West Fourth St., South, says: "Twenty-one years ago I was run over by a team and since then my back has been weak and my kidneys caused me no end of annoyance. In the following of my occupation fitting furnaces, heaters, etc., I have to stoop a great deal and most of the work necessitates strain on the muscles of the back. This of course aggravates the cause and when in the acute stage I frequently suffer. Knowing from the irregular action of the kidney secretions that the kidneys were responsible for the annoyances I led me to try remedies when the attacks were very pronounced. None of them ever brought such lasting relief as Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at the F. J. Hill Drug Co.'s store. Satisfied that one box did its work thoroughly and well I purchased a second, and when I had completed it the last attack stopped."

Pottsville, Pa.

ARIZONA AND NEW MEXICO MAY BE CONSOLIDATED, MAKING ONE NEW STATE.

Two new states instead of three—in this compromise the senate deadlock has been kept up so long by Senator Quay bids fair to be broken. Oklahoma will be one state; Arizona and New Mexico together will be the other. This will take the name Arizona, it is said. The arrangement contemplates putting the capital at Santa Fe, which would be a concession to New Mexico. It is said that a bill embodying this idea has already been drawn and that it may also provide for division of the new state when it has a population of 100,000 people, each of the present territories becoming states.

They are in the power of the senate, and according to what the majority opinion, riders are placed on appropriation bills whenever they seem necessary. In this case the minority will be in the majority, and the bill will be passed.

THE METHODS OF MR. QUAY.
Whether may be the outcome, it is said that Senator Quay has kept the senate guessing. He has urged the statehood bill with all possible earnestness at every occasion. It was reported, on Feb. 16, and he has tried ever since to get an agreement for a vote, but also to have the senate meet at night sessions. But both of these things have been denied. When "Jim" comes at the end of the session, and there is a great struggle for the bill, Quay believes that his bill will stand as good a chance as any. He will certainly have got into a dangerous position, and he can count on all other bills and simply let a vote upon the appropriation bill as a rider. A part of Quay's strategy has been not to antagonize the statehood bill, and this puts him

Patrick's death was sudden. When his sister, Mrs. S. S. Cooper, went to her brother's house and looked a moment at the body she fell to the floor, paralyzed on one side and unconscious. She died within a few hours.

Methodist Preachers Have a Row

New York, Feb. 9.—Dr. J. H. Buckley, editor of the Christian Advocate of this city, caused a sensation at a meeting of Methodist preachers here today. The previous speaker, D. D. Thompson, editor of the Northwestern Christian Advocate of Chicago, had spoken in a most enthusiastic way, declaring that there had been a million and a half converts made by the Methodists in the last four years.

Mr. Buckley disputed the accuracy of these figures. He declared that statistics showed that Methodism was actually declining in some of the conferences at any rate. He believed in looking at the facts, and he declared it was a grievous mistake to take an
